

Tommy Alexander

Feelings

"A phenomenal talent."
Michael McDonald

"Thought provoking music in an age of glib imitation."
No Depression

Tommy Alexander has never quite known where he was going, just to keep moving.

In 2015 something undeniable was pulling the 31-year old DIY musician, self-made entrepreneur, and college dropout to the Pacific Northwest, where he quickly become a core part of their close knit songwriting community. While continuing to refine his own songwriting and performing skills, Alexander would go on to found Pilot Light Booking, which initially focused on that very community, but soon expanded to nearly 50 artists nationwide.

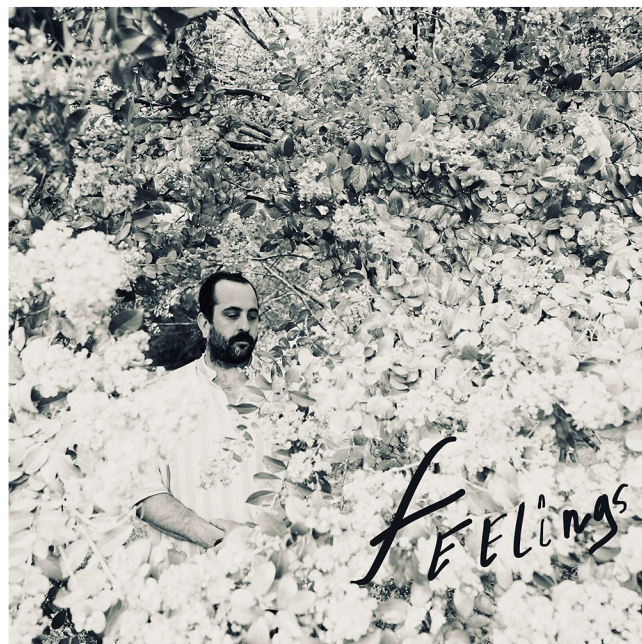

With the pandemic cutting into his work as a booking agent, Alexander moved to Nashville in April of 2021, and within a year was offered a job as a booking agent at Wasserman Nashville.

Meanwhile, his own music career was not to be put on a back burner. While in Nashville Alexander met Riley Downing at a small stakes poker game. Downing had just released a stunning album made with Nashville engineer and producer, Andrija Tokic. Downing offered to connect Alexander and Tokic and as they say, the rest is history. Tokic put together a band of Nashville session musicians including Chris Scruggs, Jo Schornikow, Megan Coleman, "Little" Jack Lawrence, Billy Contreras, and Dillon Watson.

Feelings finds Alexander delving deeper than ever into his own emotional state through a poetic and approachable songwriting lens. The record was primarily tracked live over five session, with a few choice overdubs. Alexander credits Tokic as a wizard of audio.

Feelings will be released digitally on October 28, 2022 and physically (CD and LP) in May 2023.
